Richardson for Governor

Success in life and business depends on ability, economy, and efficiency. Vote for Friend W. Richardson means success in the conduct of the State's affairs.

The experience of a newspaper man fits him for any position requiring executive, dependable and business ability. Friend W. Richardson has had such experience. A vote for him means efficiency and not indifference in the conduct of state affairs.

Albert E. Boynton, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, issued the following statement:

"Friend W. Richardson possesses an independent, thoughtful and analytical mind, capable of understanding and meeting all of the grave responsibilities and duties that devolve upon the governor. He is not the representative of any class or group, but is a true representative of the spirit and ideals of the Republican party and of the great majority of the people of California, whom he has served so well in the past. He deserves the support of all citizens."

Here is what the Republican platform says in its endorsement of Richardson:

"Friend W. Richardson has been a faithful, intelligent and zealous servant of the public in offices of trust and responsibility. His long and consistent and effective advocacy of humanitarian measures, as citizen, journalist and public officer, place him in the front ranks of those who have unselfishly and sincerely championed the rights of mankind. He has a thorough knowledge of the finances of state government."

Nothing greater could be said of any man.

Richardson's candidacy for governor of California is sweepon in a resistless force. The rank and file of the people are aroused. It has been a long time since they have had opportunity to vote for a man who is living up to what he has been saying during the campaign.

Characteristic of the Man

The following letter is self explanatory. It shows the character of the man running for Governor of California. Nothing more eloquent than this could be said:

Francis J. Reid, Concord, Calif.

Dear Friend—I have your kind letter of the 26th inst. and am glad you approve of my stand.

It is not particularly important that I should be elected, but it is important, if elected, that I should be free from any domination of bosses.

With kindest regards, I am, Yours sincerely,

FRIEND W. RICHARDSON.

INSTALL LIGHTS

On the recommendation of the light committee ,made to the council last evening, street lights will be installed at the corner of Second and Florida, Second and Virginia, and also on Macdonald avenue, near the baseball grounds.

Double Death Mystery Comes to Climax With the Confessions of Two Youths

At the left is Mrs. Hall, the wife of the murdered millionaire pastor. At her side on the right is Mrs. Eleanor Mills, pretty choir leader whose body was found along with that of the wealthy minister's on a deserted faem in the suburbs of New Brunswick, N. J. The mystery which shrouded their deaths was swept away yesterday with the confession of two youths who claimed that the deed was a mistake, a case of mistaken identity.

BOY CONFESSES TO KILLING TWO

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 9.—The mysterious double murder of Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, millionaire rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal church of St. John, the Evangelist, and his beautiful choir leader, Mrs. James Mills—a crime of such dramatic qualities that it aroused international interest—reached a sensational climax today when Clifford Hayes, a 19-year-old boy was arrested on the charge of first degree murder, and his chum, Raymond Schneider, was arrested as a material witness.

Dr. Hall and his companion were the victims of mistaken identity, according to a confession alleged to have been made by young Schneider to the Somerset and Middlesex county authorities after an all-night grilling.

Hayes was madly infatuated with a 15-year-old girl, Pearl Bahmer, and was suspicious of the relationship existing between the girl and her stepfather.

Tells Story of Night of Crime

On the night of September 14, according to the statements attributed to Schneider, Hayes and himself were walking in the direction of Buccleuch park when they saw the Bahmer girl in company with a man. Hayes flamed up in a jealous rage. Hayes and Schneider followed the couple, but lost track of them. The two youths continued the lonely path, and at 1 o'clock on the following morning (September 15 saw a man and woman enter DeRussey lane, a dark and isolated roadway leading to theh old Phillips farm with its deserted house.

Schneider and Hayes saw the couple only for a moment in the pitch darkness, then turned off toward the farmhouse. As they approached the building, the youths saw a couple under a stunted crabapple tree.

Hayes, according to the reported confession, lost control of himself, believing doubtless that his sweetheart was giving her affections to another. With an oath, he drew a pistol and leaped forward. Hayes is said to have fired four shots. In the flash of gunpowder, Schneider saw the faces of the couple beneath the tree and realized with a shock that they were not Pearl Bahmer and the man Hayes sought. Schneider said he ran, terror stricken, from the scene, but met Hayes ten minutes later. He did not know what Hayes had been doing in the meantime. Schneider said he had no revolver himself.

It was not until noon that any formal charges were made by the county authorities. After the county prosecutors and detectives had finished with Schneider, Hayes was taken to the courthouse and questioned for several hours.

Both Youths Are Arrested

Just before noon Prosecutor Strickler announced that the two youths had been arrested.

By a starnge coincidence, the bodies of the cleryman and his companion were "discovered" on September 16 by Schneider and Pearl Bahmer. They claimed to have been looking for mushrooms at the time.

A storm of scandal broke forth and theories of the most sensation nature were advanced. Members of the Hall family and the Mills family were interrogated time and agin. James Mills, husband of the slain woman and sexton of Dr. Hall's church, was taken before the Somerset county prosecutor, but quickly established an alibi. Mrs. Hall, widow of the murdered clergyman, was questioned, but denied that she knew of any reason for the crime.

Then members of the congregation of the Church of St. John, the Evangelist, were interrogated. Some claimed to have had knowledge that a love match existed between Dr. Hall and the choir leader. This led to the theory that a self-appointed censor of morals among the parishioners had caused the double killing. Other theories were that the "Ku Klux Klan" was involved, or that professional gunmen had been employed by some one to uphold the family honor. Members of the Hall family were questioned time and again without sufficient information being obtained to obtain a warrant.

A central figure in the tragedy, and one who proved largely instrumental in bringing about arrests, is Miss Charlotte Mills, 16-year-old daughter of the slain woman. Although but a school girl, Charlotte acted with cool-headed decision throughout. She was summoned before the authorities and gave them a decisive acccount of all she knew. After two weeks had elapsed and no arrests were made, Miss Mills wrote a personal letter to Governor Edwards asking him to do all in his power to bring the murderer of her mother to justice.

Unmerger Is Upheld by Court

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Supreme Court today denied a rehearing of the case brought by the United States in which it directed the Southern Pacific Company to divorce itself of ownership and control over the Central Pacific Railroad.

The court at its last term rendered an opinion which reversed the United Stats District Court for Utah and held that ownership and control of the Central Pacific by the Southern Pacific was in violaton of the Sherman anti-trust act on the ground that the two systems were competing under the law.

The decision resulted in numerous petitions being presented to Congress by commercial and other organizations, some urging, others opposing, the enforcement of the decision. The refusal to reopen the case will result in the issuance of a mandate to the District Court in Utah to give effect to the decision.

U. P. Head Upheld

President C. R. Gray of the Union Pacific, visiting in San Francisco, is elated with the decision, which will he declares, "insure an independent Central Pacific system whose interest will be to function whole-heartedly with the Union Pacific in the maintenance of the historic and shortest transcontinenal line between the Missouri river and San Francisco."

HALF FINISHED HOUSE NUISANCE

Complaint was made to the council last evening that an uncompleted house at the corner of Fourth and Nevin was a public nuisance, and asked that it be condemned. The petitioners stated that in the day time, it was occupied by young children as a playground, and at night was the rendezvous of young couples.

During the week City Manager McVittie will get in touch with the owner of the property and see what can be done in the matter.

Building Inspector L. Wierda said that it was impossible for the building to be condemned.

Warrant Issued for Arrest of Auto Driver

Warrant for the errest of John Doe Christine of Concord on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated was issued yesterday by District Attorney T. B. Tinning. The charge was made by J. W. Brotherton of Martinez. The alleged offense occurred on Octibor 3.

TURKISH ARMY PUSHES AHEAD IN STRAIT ZONE

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—The allied generals Harington, Grombelli and Charpy, returned to Constantinople late this evening. The Moudania conference has been adjourned to permit the Kemalists to refer the allied demands to the Angora assembly.

The Turkish Nationalist troops yesterday resumed thei advance in the Dardanelles area in the direction of Channak, the British stronghold, according to a Mudania dispatch to the local newspapers.

Navigation in the Bosphorus, which was suspended on Sunday by the British incursions into the neutral zone was re-established this morning.

London, Oct. 9.—The Near East situation continued to present disturbing potentialities today with the revolutionary Greek army at Adrianople declaring it would not retire and with the victorious Turkish army concentrating at Brusa and Ismid, anxious to reach Constantinople and protect the Turks in Thrace.

Legion Ladies Take Up the Council's Time

Most of the early part of council last evening was taken up with a scrap between two factions of the Auxiliary of the American Loyal Legion.

It all came about by reason of the fact that a week ago the council made an appropriation of $100 to advertise the city of Richmond at the national convention of the Auxiliary to be held at New Orleans this month.

The ladies of the organization were out in force, and words flew thick, in fact, the members of the council were flabbergasted for quite a while.

Finally truce was declared by the council ordering that $25 be allowed to cover the expense that had already been incurred.

Asks Council for a Fire Hydrant at 43rd

Property owners in the vicinity of Forty-third street and Barrett avenue, asked the council last evening that a fire hydrant be located in that section. They set forth that there were eighteen houses with a radius of 1250 feet of that corner, and contracts. It was ascertained that this section is in the section covered by the Pullman water company, which has no pressure in its mains, and an effort will be made through the railroad commission to see if a pipe cannot be laid from the main of the East Bay Water Company on San Pablo avenue.

Council Gives Clean Up Order to Lbr. Co.

On motion of Councilman J. N. Hartnett last evening at the meeting of the conucil, the clerk was instructed to notify the Tilden Lumber Company at Fifteenth and Nevin, that they sholud immediately clean up their premises, and abate the nuisances complained of, or else appear before the council and show cause.

Mrs. Grace Brown, who resides in the neighborhood stated that it was impossible for residents of that section to keep their homes clean on account of the new dustshrdlucmfwyp count of the saw dust and that lavatories were also badly needed at the mill.

Lottery Den Raided Over Week End

In a raid on the Paris, reputed to be a Chinest gambling den on San Pablo avenue in El Cerrito, Sunday afternoon, 8 Chinest and 11 white men were taken into custody and a quantity of lottery tickets and other gambling paraphernalia were confiscated and held by the authorities as evidence.

The raid was conducted by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Smiley of Richmond, and Constable George Conlon of El Cerrito, assisted by a number of citizens, who had been sworn in as special deputies.

Two men were stational in the Chinese gambling house early in the day and at a time when the place was in full operation, notified the raiding party to strike.

Then men, whites and Chinese, were taken to Martinez following the raid and were lodged in jail until Monday afternoon when they appeared before Justice of the Peace E. L. Glass. The white men were charged with vagrancy and the Chinese with conducting a gambling house.

The Chinese arrested gave the following names:

Ah Yip, Lee Hong, Ah Ming, Ah Wah, Di Crew, Sing Ling Wong Hong, and Ah Wing.

The following names were taken in the raid:

August Lubfin, John Thorn, Otto Bothe, Jack McMillan, Charles Kroft, George Boljart, G. H. Newton, E. Maier, John Low, J. D. Dean and John Kapp.

PROVISION FOR BOND ELECTION

Next Monday evening final passage will be given the ordinance, which was given first reading at the meeting of the council last evening providing for a bond election to be held on the 28th of November. It calls for $350,000 five per cent bonds for city play grounds, hospital, swimming tank, and public gymnasium.

All of the officers for the election are named in the ordinance.

As a permanent park and playground committee to advise with the council and select permanent sites for the parks and playgrounds, Mayor Garrard appointed J. A. Miller, Mrs. W. C. Fulenwider, Mrs. S. S. Ripley, Larkin J. Younce and Carl Alexander.

An active educational campaign will be waged in favor of the bonds and the above committee will appoint a committee to raise funds and work in harmony for the project.

Mrs. Ripley stated to the council that the committee had in mind getting the different civic bodies and lodges of the city interested in the project.

Two Are Jailed When Attempting Robbery

Following their arrest by the Richmond police at 5 o'clock yesterday morning while they are believed to have tried to break into the Cinderella cafe, El Cerrito, Donald T. Branbury and James F. Gary, both of Oakland, are being held by the local authorities pending investigation of the burglary of the Bay View Garage.

Carl Lewis of the garage called the police, a supply of tries, motormeters and other accessories having been stolen from the garage a few minutes earlier. The police found a gun believed to have been thrown away by the men.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN ATTIC HOME; SUICIDE

After friends of Fred E. Hilton had missed him for several days and could find no trace of him, they notified the police. Officer Mahnke entered the garret home of the local barber, over his shop at 1614 Macdonald and in one of the rooms, tightly sealed so that no cracks would seep air he found Hilton dead in his bed. The man had probably been dead for three or four days or more. A tube attached to a gas stove lying by his side under the covers on the bed was still issuing gas when the officer broke in. Hilton is said to have threatened to commit suicide on several occasions. It is said that financial and business troubles were at least partly responsible for the deed.

According to the story given out last night by Officer Mahnke, speaking for the police department, Ed C. Fischer of 1602 Macdonald, a very close friend of the dead man approached Mahnke and told him that he had not seen Hilton for a number of days and that he had not been at his barber ship at 1614 Macdonald. This was about 7:20 last evening. He told the officer that Hilton had been despondent for some time and had threatened to commit suicide. The officer and Fischer went to the garage of the back of the lot to see if Hilton's car was gone, thinking that the man might have gone away on a trip. They found the car in the garage. They then went to the upper floor of the barber shop building, to the attic where Hilton had made his home.

Entering the building through a back door, they searched the downstairs of the place but found nothing and then turned their attentions to the upper floor. In the first room they searched, all was well, but on drawing near to the front room the smell of gas became noticeable. The door to the room was broken open, a wave of gas burst out into the hallway and for the moment the pair of investigators were driven back. When the fumes had subsided somewhat they entered. There on his cot in the dingy room lay Hilton cold in death. At the foot of the bed was a gas stove to which was attached a metallic gas tube. The tube led up under the foot of the bed and under the covers to the man's mouth. He evidently had turned on the gas and then placed the tube in his mouth. His body was very badly swollen from the effects of the gas. From the condition of the body it is believed that the man has been dead for at least three days and probably five or six.

Deputy Coroners Aubrey Wilson and Fred Waas were summoned and took charge of the remains. It was quite a difficult task to remove the dead man from the little garret. Wilson & Kratzer have charge of the body.

With the man's body was also

"More business and less politics. When I become governor I will throw out the political wrecking gang and put a construction crew on the job."—Statement of Friend William Richardson, who has just been nominated by the Republicans for Governor of California.

WELCOME COUE

Next January America will have an opportunity to grow "better and better, day by day, in every respect."

Dr. Emile Coue, founder of the Nancy School of Auto-suggestion, is coming here to heal all our ailings.

That is, he will heal them if too much opposition is not offered to the theory he has revived. Dr. Coue, you know, believes that you can become a better and stronger person, no matter what your sickness, by repeating to yourself a formula of faith. The idea is that your subconscious mind gets tired of hearing the expression after a while—just as a good many other persons have—and throws up its hands in despair. "All right," it says, "have it your own way. You are better and better, day by day, in every respect."

But a great many physicians do not place any more confidence in Dr. Coue's theories than they do a lot of other discarded fads which once ran their course of popularity. They admit, of course, that when there is nothing the matter with a person they will really feel a great deal better if they can convince themselves of that fact. They believe too, that "faith" is of great assistance to reputable physicians in dealing with their patients. But they see nothing new in Dr. Coue's auto-suggestion. It is a theory that he has merely revived and given publicity. They talk about it as seriously as did Punch in its verse:

"There was a young man of Kilpeacon,
Whose nose was as red as a beacon.
But by saying 'It's white,'
Twenty times day and night,
He cured it, and died an archdeacon."

There is a certain group in particular which intends to fight radicalism of the Coue school. They are the backers of the proposed Psychomedical hospital.

"Experts in psychotherapy and psychopathology," they say, "have concluded from actual scientific tests that the preachments of that man are bunk."

But we must leave Dr. Coue for a while and repeat to ourselves twenty times, "Day by day, in every respect, this column is getting better and better."

Three members of the jury which acquitted Governor Small in Illinois have been given lucrative state positions, which shows that Illinois justice is not so all-fired blind that she cannot recognize merit when she sees it.

Both republican and democratic paragraphers will find plenty of material in the fact that a democratic state convention and the undertakers are meeting in Syracuse at the same time.

Royalty is trying to persuade the ex-kaiser to break his promise to marry. Breaking a promise should come easy to him, but suppose the lady should sue him?

The way the democrats are all saying "After you" about this chairman job, it begins to appear that they are chary of any more of these forlorn hopes.

Headline writers are always accurate. One notices that almost invariably when a woman gets a divorce it is from her husband.

Suzanne Lenglen is engaged to be married. It may prove an ideal union if her husband doesn't try to play against her.

A voyager has found a tribe in the South Sea Islands who didn't know there had been a world war. Talk about luck.

With actual coal enough stored in the yards, a rising price may yet bring about a shortage in the home.

All the rest of the allies seem to be out of step with Great Britain over policies in the Near East.

GOOD OLD UNCLE SAM

Bishop Cannon was just a little excited, as are all those whose hearts are good, at the atrocities of the Turk. There can be no exaggeration of the horror and disgust with which a civilized world watches the crimes of the Moslems, but a limit exists to the ability of Good Old Uncle Sam to rectify the wrongs of the world.

It can be said without fear of successful contradiction that America wants to help everybody in every country. So, for that matter, does any good human being. The urge is upon decent folk to ameliorate the distress of all who bear burdens in excess of our own. But we find little time as individuals to go about curing the defects of our fellow men. We depute a good deal of that work, and generously back up the doers of our community good deeds. But it is impossible for those of us, prone and all to err, who bleed inwardly at trouble, to devote much more time and resources to the work of mercy.

The power of President Harding to call out the army and navy to put the Kemalists back where they belong is fanciful, and with a moment's thought, this churchman, informed as he must be to have reached the estate of bishop, would have realized it. We can forgive him a moment of hysteria when he was ready to see his country plunged into a costly war so that even so greatly compassionate a task as saving the Christians of Asia Minor might have been promoted.

THE TIRED BANKER

Joys unusual in the lives of the bankers of the country are on tap for the delegates to the American Bankers convention in New York. The fellows who have been sitting in their offices, figuring out the risks of the profession, can now exchange their ideas.

A little disturbance in the routine of discussion took place the other day when Mr. Lamont struck a popular—with bankers—chord, and advocated the cancellation of debts and the possible entering into European affairs by the United States.

But is there not just a little self interest in this sudden enthusiasm for Europe? How much European bond loans are these bankers carrying, anyway? Do they expect their investments to be made good by the sacrifice by the government of the United States of the $11,000,000,000 owed us by the world powers of the old country?

It would be nice to be neighbors with Europe and trade amicably with the people there, and have them pay their debts—for commercial trade and everything. But how can one establish friendly commercial relations with a gang of bullies, owing everybody and still borrowing to buy blackjacks?

We fear that the tired banker minds were a little off balance when they allowed their native caution to be annulled by a stream of suave words.

With the advent of prohibition blockade running becomes more active along the Atlantic coast than at any time since the Civil War.

Suicide Is Found In Attic Room

found a note—a will, drawn up in crude form, in which he left all his worldly possessions, including his little shop and his automobile to Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Fischer. To his wife, Belle, with whom he had not lived since 1917, he left one dollar.

It was later learned that a stepson of Hilton's had died but a month ago in Stockton.

According to the police, the man had been having some trouble which seemed to be worrying him. He apparently did not own the land on which his shop stood and the lease was to run out within a month. It was the purpose of the owners of the property, who reside in San Francisco, it is said, not to renew the lease to Hilton. According to Fischer he had threatened to commit suicide several times.

On a recent occasion Hilton was arrested by the local authorities on a charge of driving his car in an intoxicated condition. Hilton was about 58 years old.

Union Oil Disappoints Many, No Melon Cut

No melon was cut Saturday by the Union Oil Company of California, despite the persistent touting which accelerated the market advance of the stock.

The directors met and declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share, together with the customary extra dividend of $1. Both are payable October 28, on stock of record October 10.

That the company is enjoying prosperity is evidenced by the fact that during the nine months ended September 30 net profits from operations totaled $9,250,000 as against $8,200,000 for the corresponding period last year.

Ladies! Secret to Darken Gray Hair

Bring back color, gloss and youthfulness with Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur.

Common garden sage, brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added will turn gray streaked and faded hair beautifully bright and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the read-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully oft glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.

Breezy Comedy Seen At the T. & D. Today

A new Rupert Hughes comedy, produced by Goldwyn, "Come on Over," is at the Richmond T. & D theater today. It is a breezy, wholesome, chucklesome story of an Irish lad, Shane O'Mealia, who seeks his fortune in the United States, leaving Monya, his sweetheart, to be "sent for out" when he lands a good job. Shane is unfortunate and loses job after job.

The years go by and Moyna is brought over by friends. She thinks Shane is in love with Judy Grady and there is a great to-do until they are swept into each others arms at a contest of old Irish dances.

Alfred Greene directed the comedy in assoication with the author. Colleen Moore, who made such a big hit in Rupert Hughes' previous photoplay, "The Wall Flower," is cast as Moyna and Ralph Graves who leaped into screen prominence in Griffith's "Dream Street," acts the part of Shane. Others in the cast are J. Farrell MacDonald, Kate Price, Kathleen O'Connor, Florence Drew, Mary Warren, James Marcus, Harold Holland, Monti Collins and C. E. Mason.

doesn't pay to be too obstinate. You have been in the army, I understand; then you are aware there is a harsh side to life, a way to make or break men. All right, now I've got the power; I can keep you locked up here; I could even kill you if necessary. You are utterly helpless. There is an argument worth your consideration. But I will give you yet another which may have even more weight."

"What?"

The door opened quietly, and then closed, leaving Natalie Coolidge standing there in the light, her eyes slightly frowning as she looked silently at the two men.

"The lady, of course," explained Hobart, rising to his feet, "you will, at least, be gentleman enough to accept her word!"

She waited, seemingly unable to grasp the situation, or realize the part she was called upon to perform, but as West failed to respond, finally asked a question.

"What is it, Jim? You sent for me?"

"Yes, as a last resort. You recognize this man?"

"Of course," indifferently; "what is he doing here?"

Hobart laughed.

"It seems the fellow hasn't taken his dismissal very seriously, Natalie," he explained, "and remains very much interested in your affairs."

"You mean he followed me here?"

"He was on the trail, but just for what particular purpose I have failed to learn; the lad is a bit close mouthed, but it looks to me as though he was in love with you."

The girl smiled, tossing her head as she stepped forward.

"In love with me," she echoed. "That is a joke, yet I had some such suspicion when I told him to quit the job. He acted like a fool then, and began to question me as though he had a right. It was that being engaged business, most likely."

"Sure; he thought he had you copped, fortune and all, and it looks to me like he needs another jolt to put the idea entirely out of his head. That is what I brought you in for. I'll explain that, just how it happened. This army guy blew in here before dark, along with another fellow, Sexton.

"I was standing by the bar talking with Izzy, and I was sure I knew this dude fine. I was stumped a bit at first where I had seen him; then all at once it came to me—he was the guy sitting out there alone in the automobile over on Arch street. I knew then what he was over here for, and got to talking with him. He give himself away the first thing, and that is why we got him up in this dump."

"How did he know I was here?"

"Some of your precious help out there heard you talk to me over the 'phone, and passed it on."

"And what does he want? What do these men want?"

"Well Sexton don't want much of anything—he's knocked out; the fool made a fight, and had to be hit; and, as to this bird, I rather think he was just naturally hosing around out of curiosity, and because he was stuck on you. I don't figure he is anything to be afraid of, but I am not going to have the fellow gum-shoeing around. I'll take his word to get out and stay out; otherwise he and I are going to have a little seance of our own. That's all there is about it."

West had said nothing, watching the others, and waiting to choose some course of action. His mind was confused, uncertain, yet he found encouragement in Hobart's statement of the case. The fellow felt no serious fear of him; had no suspicion as yet that anyone believed Percival Coolidge murdered. The probability was that not even the girl dreamed of such a thing. Whatever her connection might be with this man, she must be innocent of so foul a crime. If he could only speak to her alone; bring to her the truth; reveal to her the real character of this man Hobart, there would be no doubt of the result. In spite of the strange situation he yet retained faith in the girl; she had been deceived, led astray in some manner, but his first impression of her true nature still controlled his thought. He could only believe her a victim of scheming villains, driven by circumstances to play a part utterly foreign to her character. His only hope of learning the facts from her own lips, or of re-establishing her faith in him, lay in a moment's conversation alone. His mind instantly leaped to this conclusion, and his eyes met her own. They were wide open, full of curiosity yet not unkind. He spoke swiftly.

"That sounds fair enough, Hobart," he said quietly, taking the chance as though it was the most natural thing in the world. "I am not hunting trouble in any way, or seeking to butt in where I am not wanted. Your guess as to my purpose in coming here is about right. I had no other object but to be of some service to this young lady. If I can talk with her a moment alone, and thus assure myself as to her wishes, I'll give you any pledge you want, and forget all about the affair. Is that satisfactory?"

"Alone, you said? You want to see her alone?"

"Absolutely no other arrangement will answer. I want her to talk freely; to answer my questions with no interference."

Hobart glanced toward his companion inquiringly, evidently inclined to deny the request.

"H—l, you don't want much," he said rather gruffly. "What do you think about this proposition, Natalie?"

The girl smiled, her eyes still on West's face.

"Fair enough," she admitted as though the whole matter was a joke. "It looks like the easiest way out."

"All right, if you say so. It is my guess you are equal to the job. How much time do you want, West?"

"Ten or fifteen minutes. I want to get down to the bottom of this thing."

"Oh, you do, hey? Modest as ever, I see. Well, here's luck to you. You needn't be afraid of the guy, Natalie; we got his gat before we brought him up here, and if he makes any break, I'll be out in the hall ready to take a hand. You're still for it?"

"Yes," indifferently, seating herself on a convenient chair. "We might as well talk it out now as any time. You go on, Jim, and leave it to me."

Hobart was not entirely satisfied, hesitating as he lit a fresh cigar, his keen eyes watchful of them both. However, it was plain to be seen the girl had made her decision, and he evidently knew her well enough to realize the uselessness of revolt.

"Hobart is a Fool to Do Such a Thing."

"All right then," he replied finally, turning to the door. "Suit yourself, only watch your step. Anyhow, I'll be within calling distance, if this guy gets gay."

"Don't worry about that," a flash of anger in her eyes. "I am no baby, Jim Hobart. Go on now, and leave Captain West to me."

He closed the door behind him, and the two were alone in the room. No sound reached them from without, not even an echo of Hobart's footsteps in the hall. West looked across at the girl, who sat motionless, her eyes shaded by long lashes, and ringless fingers clasped in her lap. She appeared indifferent, uninterested, scarcely aware of his presence. He wondered if Hobart was listening at the door; what had become of Mike, and whether Sexton was alive or dead. For the moment he could scarcely make himself realize the true situation. His silence served to arouse her interest, for she suddenly lifted her head and looked at him.

"Well," she said soberly. "You have something to ask?"

"Much—yes; but first, are we alone?"

"Certainly—why?"

"This man Hobart, you are sure he is not listening at the door?"

She glanced about; then laughed.

"Little good that would do him; there is no key-hole, no chance for sound to penetrate. We are quite alone, Captain, and you are perfectly free to say whatever you please."

"But even then, is this wholly fair?"

"What do you mean?"

"I came here," he explained earnestly, "with no bad intention; no desire to injure any one, Miss Coolidge; my only thought the possibility of being of some service to you."

"That is very interesting, I am sure. I am quite grateful."

"Then I am going to ask you a favor. Release my hands and feet. You need not be afraid; I give my pledge to make no attempt to escape while we are together. Will you do this?"

Eat Less and Take Salts for Kidneys

Tke a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder Bothers You

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous acid stomach from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder ache, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

RADIO STATION AT SAN PABLO ATTENTION

M. G. Moitoza, the enterprising and up-to-date garage man of the nearby city of San Pablo, has installed in his office a complete radio reeciving station and has been furnishing the residents of the town with amusement as well as wireless news every day for the past week. During the world series of baseball between th Giants and th Yanks the fans received news fresh from the ball grounds as the games were played. This wonderful contrivance which mystifies the average person is attracting crowds which fill the office each evening who listen to the broadcasting of news events and entertainmnets staged in San Francisco, Sacramento and as far away as Salt Lake City. Mr. Moitoza is to be commended on his enterprising spirit shown in keeping pace with the times and giving the residents of San Pablo a news service excelled by none. Mr. Moitoza has become so conversant with the operations of this wonderful instrument that, while a speech is being made in San Francisco he accompanies it with soft music being sent out from Los Angeles.

Anyone visiting San Pablo should drop in and see this altest invention in wireless in operation.

Your daughter's room

Is it truly expressive of the ideas you expect in American womanhood? Does its simplicity and good taste convey that poise and character you admire in the wives of successful business men, mothers of the sturdy American Boy—women of the type you wish your daughter to be?

When alone in her room unconsciously she reflects the character of her surroundings. Quiet and restful—a charm so sacred to her in her solitude—her room has an influence far greater than perhaps is realized. She falls asleep—relaxed and comforted—and opens her eyes in the morning—reflecting the restfulness the room conveys.

Standard Service

With our experience and equipment we have a notion that we could work out a pretty fair sort of battery service without much help.

But we also have an idea that it wouldn't measure up to the brand of service developed for our use by the Willard Storage Battery Company.

As Battery Headquarters we have the benefit of their years of experience, and of the definite national standards of service they have been able to develop as a result.

Come in! No matter what make of battery you happen to have it needs the sort of attention provided by the Willard Standard of Service.

SMALLEY TAILORS DEFEAT SAN PABLO GARAGE FOR CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

With Henry Savin pitching superb ball, the J. E. Smalley Tailors won the "little world's series" by defeating San Pablo in an exciting game Sunday afternoon at the First street ball park. Savin held the San Pablans safe at all times, letting them down with four hits and whiffing eight.

The Tailors put over the winning tally in the eighth when Elmer Hansen tripled and scored on O'Loan's bunt.

Snowden and Downey put up a nice game in the outfield for the winners, while Ferrari and Wickesser featured for the San Pablo club.

The San Pablo fans lay the loss of the game to the absence of a manager during the final innings, Judge Grover, the Miller Huggins of the farmer team, being unexpectedly called away early in the contest.

Sunday's contest was the last to be played by the Tailors, who have disbanded for the present season. P. O'Rourke, Downey, Lane, Mann and Hansen have signed contracts to play Class A ball with the First National Bank in the Tribune Mid-winter League, while O'Loan, Snowden, Hutton and McCormick have signed with the Key Route Mechanics in the Class B division in the Tribune league.

Nichol Field was the scene of an exciting football game yesterday when the Commercial Law class and Physics Class teams clashed in their annual game, with the former winning by a 24 to 0 score. Although the Physics players were easily defeated, they put up a game fight and made a number of big gains against their more experienced opponents.

The Commercial Law team included Doug Gray, Conny Healey, Ralph Lee, Vargas, Cornell, Dick Paasch and Ralph Anderson.

Included in the lineup of the Physics cass were Gurney, R. Gray, W. LaMoine, Neckel, Kennedy, Lynch, Art Muth, Olson, H. Roe and Bob Clinch.

RICHMOND Y. M. C. A. IS PLANNING FOR AN ACTIVE YEAR

Plans for an active year are now being made by the Richmond Y. M. C. A., according to A. W. Mueller, general secretary of the local "Y." The various physical training classes are now under way and are attended by an increasing number of men and boys each week.

All men and boys interested in physical culture work are invited to register at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters and join the classes, which are being conducted free of charge for the present.

According to the present schedule the gymnastic class for men and boys will meet every Monday and Thursday evenings at the "Y" gym, starting at 7 o'clock. The class is in charge of J. W. Deeming, who is a graduate of the famous School of Gymnastics, England, and who is also well known as a wrestler. The work of the class consists of calisthenics, tumbling, pyramids and indoor games.

The wrestling and boxing classes are conducted by E. P. Howard on Wednesday and Friday nights. Howard is well known in wrestling circles, having won the middleweight championship of the county several years ago, and also having appeared in many big matches at the Olympic Club and San Francisco Y. M. C. A.

All those desiring special physical training are invited to get in touch with the "Y" headquarters at once, as special classes will be formed as the need for them arises.

WET WEATHER PREVENTS CONEYS AND WILSONS FROM PLAYING SUNDAY

The ball game set for Sunday between the Thomas E. Wilson Company and the Coney Drug Company was cancelled when old man Jupe Pluvius got in some of his dirty work and made the grounds unfit for service. Under the direction of Skipper Roberts the Wilson team indulged in a light practice, however, and the world's series a chance to play in the boys shaped up in their first work-out.

FORMER RICHMOND BOY IS CONSIDERED STAR OF WORLD'S SERIES

Bill Cunningham, former Richmond boy, added his name to the list of world series heroes by his wonderful work in the outfield for the Giants in last week's series with the Yankees.

Although Cunningham played good ball during the 1922 season, he was not considered a chance to play in the big series because of the absence of left handers on the Yanks' pitching staff, coupled with the remarkable come-back staged by Casey Stengel, veteran outfielder. Stengel was injured in the second game of the series, however, and Bill got his chance.

How well Cunningham filled the breach is history, Bill carving for himself a niche in baseball's hall of fame by making a wonderful catch of Babe Ruth's long drive on Saturday, and driving home the two tieing runs in the last game with a pretty single to center.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE WIN PRACTICE GAME FROM GOLDEN GATE MERCHANTS

A large number of local soccer fans witnessed the game last Sunday at San Pablo Park, Berkeley, between the Sons of St. George and the Golden Gate Merchants, the former winning by a 3 to 0 score. The Sons team, which includes several Richmond soccer stars in its line-up, by its excellent playing Sunday is to be considered a dangerous contender in the Eastbay Football league this season.

Goals were made for the Sons by Wixton and Spurgeon, the former accounting for one score in each half.

CAN NOT OPEN CROSSING, THOT

It is very likely that nothing can be done by the city about opening up a crossing at the foot of Barrett avenue across the Santa Fe property.

City Manager J. A. McVittie reported the records had been looked up during the past week, and it was found that in 1902 the supervisors of the county had closed this street which was then known as Road 12, and that the Santa Fe road had given the county another strip of land in place of it.

Since that time the crossing has been open, but the Santa Fe had maintained "trespassing" signs on it.

During the coming week the city manager will get in touch with division superintendent Walker, and ascertain if it is agreeable to the road to allow pedestrians to continue to use the opening.

At the present time the railroad has the property enclosed with a high board fence.

"Fighting Bill" Will Be Seen at the Macdonald

William Fairbanks has some notable assistance in the production of "Fighting Bill" in which he is being starred at the Macdonald theater today and tomorrow. In the cast is Al Kaufman, who will be remembered as the heavyweight fighter, the only man who boxed a draw with Jack Johnson when he was at his prime. He appears in this picture in a regular fight.

Ernest Van Pelt, who is known for his wonderful characterizations, is cast as a Mexican half-breed.

Charlotte Woods, leading woman, was for many years with Thomas Ince. She is a fearless rider and an artist of unusual ability.

Jack Waltmeyer, also appears in an important role.

William Fairbanks, in "Fighting Bill," stages a fight with six men. You dont see them waiting for their turn to jump in and fifight, but you see them all together, clawing, scratching an kicking, a regular he-man fight and you will see Bill Fairbanks, bloody, bruised and beaten, but in the end victorious.

Bill Fairbanks loves dogs and how well his dog loves him is shown in the picture, "Fighting Bill," where the outlaws bind Bill and put him in a burning shack. His dog rescues him in the nick of time. Every lover of animals will appreciate the almost human intelligence of this dog, when noticing the shack on fire and knowing his master is inside, he dashes into the flames and with his teeth unties the knotted rope and rescues Bill.

AUTO PLUNGES OVER CLIFF NEAR KOZY KOVE

An automobile owned and driven by Anthony DiDio was completely wrecked Sunday when it got out of control and plunged over a cliff into the bay near Kozy Kove Park. DiDio and a companion escaped certain death by jumping from the machine before it went over the cliff.
